

“What is the city
but the people?”

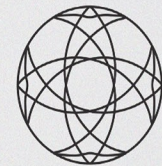

—William Shakespeare

CONTACT

+351 99 999 99 99

@parcitypate

R. Dr. António Bernardino
de Almeida 431, Porto

PAR
CITY
PATE

People have a high participation barrier when it comes to public participation in urban planning, as it requires a lot of time and initiative only a small non-diverse group of citizens take part in governmental initiatives.

- Governments connected with their citizens
- Sharing ideas on urban planning projects
- Interactive screen

A public display with a smart screen and motion sensors that interacts with citizens through a website provided by a QR Code.

It is easy to access, giving citizens the feeling of having an impact and possibility of involvement in early project stages.

Our product overcomes this problem by offering a private platform for submitting and voting in combination with an engaging interactive screen.